EVENT HOSTS AND LEAD SPONSORS

We love breathing life into startup companies. They are the ground floor of our economy and the source of innovation in the world today. Without entrepreneurs and investors willing to share risk collaboratively by creating great companies, our way of life would collapse. This is the true job creation engine of our economy. This is also the best performing asset class in the market year after year after year. And, people work where they want to live, not live where they want to work. They want to build entrepreneurial capacity and economic viability into the fabric of their community. And, angel investing is a key driver.
