Angel Capital Association Announces Partnership with Dealum

For Immediate Release

(11/28/2022) The Angel Capital Association (ACA), the world's leading professional association for angel investors and startup entrepreneurs, has announced a partnership with Dealum, a leading angel investing and angel group collaboration platform. With an overall goal of educating and supporting angel investors in their need for greater connectivity and collaboration, the ACA and Dealum have forged a new 12-month partnership jointly believed to be of great benefit to the angel investment community.

"The probability for success goes up dramatically in your angel investing journey based upon your deal flow and collaboration platform. That's why we are so pleased to announce our partnership with Dealum which offers great organization and efficiency in driving investor engagement within and between angel groups. Dealum can be the one stop shop for finding the info you need, when you need it, from an archival library that aggregates all that an angel group evaluates on a company-by-company basis," said Pat Gouhin, ACA CEO.

As a central component of this new partnership, Dealum has generously agreed to finance a soon-to-be-released interview conducted by ACA with a nationally recognized angel group leader on the state of angel collaboration platforms and what angel groups should be considering as we prepare for 2023. The interview will be released in video and digital print format in December of this year.

About Dealum:

Dealum provides a superior investor group collaboration platform to build a vibrant early-stage investing ecosystem. Our objective is to become the leading global deal-flow source for early-stage investors by creating meaningful connections between investors and startups.

About the Angel Capital Association (ACA)

ACA is a professional society of accredited angel investors who make up the world's most prolific early-stage investment class. The association is the largest professional development organization for angel investors in the world deploying more than $650 million in early-stage capital each year. ACA provides an insider perspective that can help angel investors make smart investment decisions.
