

Sarah Dickey, ACA Membership Director

Sarah joined the Angel Capital Association in the spring of 2008. Sarah serves as Membership Director for ACA supporting its more than 13,000 early stage angel investors among more than 240 member angel groups, individuals, accredited platforms, and supporting affiliate organizations through events, programs and resources designed to provide professional development and fuel portfolio success of early stage investors. Sarah Dickey also recently served as the Vice President of Research for Angel Resource Institute. In this role she supported early stage financing research activities and led the development and distribution of the Halo Report – the first ever quarterly report on angel investing activity and trends.

Sarah completed her BA at Northwest Missouri State University and her MA in Communication and Graduate Certificate in Business from the May Business School at Texas A&M University.